

Information on specific educational programs of magistracy and the doctoral studies realized by Vocational training

Main objectives of educational programs of a magistracy and doctoral studies in a Vocational training are:

- to provide an individual educational trajectory of training according to the chosen specialization;
- creation on the basis of integration of science and education and effective system of preparation scientific, the research and educational personnel new the formations capable to resolve issues of improvement of society, sciences, educations and development of new technologies;
- harmonization of domestic technologies of preparation of the research and educational personnel of the top skills with the international standards;
- to promote receiving by undergraduates and doctoral candidates of the most important and steady knowledge providing formation of scientific outlook;
- to develop at trained ability to self-education, a samosovreshenstvovaniye and mastering new scientific knowledge, skills conducting scientific and pedagogical research;
- to train the experts with the high level of professional culture (including cultures of professional communication) having a civic stand capable to formulate and solve modern scientific and practical problems, to teach in higher education institutions, successfully to carry out research and administrative activity.

Problems of educational programs of a magistracy and doctoral studies are training of domestic experts, competitive both in the Republic, and in the international labor market, integration of national educational programs in world educational a prostransva.

Sphere of professional activity: psychology and pedagogical activity in teaching and educational establishments of professional education; a production activity in the organizations of secondary, higher and additional professional education, the research, design organizations and on production; research activity in education and on production in the field of increase of workers according to specialization; educational, administrative and planned activity according to the received qualification of the master of pedagogical sciences.

Objects of professional activity: sites and means of implementation of complete pedagogical process in the organizations connected with education process; public and non-state profile institutions; in establishments of system TIPO and the highest professional educational institutions; enterprises, organizations leading preparation and retraining of experts; research, design organizations of educational sector; the centers of diagnostics and forecasting in control systems of educational institutions;

Standard problems of professional activity are directed on the decision: specific standard and non-standard problems, to education and vocational training of experts in all educational institutions; the problems connected with collective activity of teachers, masters of the Criminal Procedure Code, parents, heads and representatives of production on the organization of labor inservice training, education and vocational training of pupils; the tasks connected with increase and improvement of the qualification level.

The main activity of the master and doctor of PhD is theoretical and practical training of future specialists in a profile of labor and professional activity.

The master and doctors of PhD in "Vocational training" is competent, both of pedagogical activity, and in that branch of a national economy for which prepares shots in professional educational institution.

Training of masters on this specialty is carried out since 2007, and doctoral candidates since 2014. Training in a magistracy and doctoral studies are conducted in the scientific and pedagogical direction, in the Kazakh and Russian languages.

Head of PT deparmet Esekeshova M. D.

Dean of faculty CS and VT Askarova A.Zh.